Whether at work or play, feet are constantly under a tremendous amount of pressure. While uncomfortable shoes may be excusable for a one-time event, daily foot torture takes a toll on overall well-being. Arcopédico and Flojos offer extreme comfort, patented arch-support and massaging memory-foam for sole-searchers everywhere to find the path to foot relief.

Arcopédico – Hard-Working Shoes for Hard-Working People

Arcopédico, Portugal-based makers of high-quality, hand-made comfort shoes, helps women put their best foot forward with a line of anatomical shoes and boots featuring patented twin-arch support. In leather, knit, as well as the versatile Lytech® material (machine-washable, vegan, lightweight, water resistant and BioCalce Certified as environmentally-friendly), Arcopédico is the essential professional shoe, and is also perfect for traveling, walking and sightseeing.

Feel free and easy with the L19 (above, MSRP: $115), a lightweight bootie with stylish side-zipping. The soft, flexible Lytech® material keeps feet cozy all day, while the durable, shock-absorbing sole provides sure footing.

Switch from stilettos to Arcopédico's comfortable footwear with boots like the classic N42 (at right, MSRP: $159), featuring a soft leather exterior and a decorative snap. With a slight one-inch heel and an anti-microbial and cushioned insole, these shoes are ready for work or play and keep feet feeling fresh all day.

Light as a feather, the flat L2 ballerina slipper (at left, MSRP: $79) is perfect for everything from sight-seeing or packing into a carry-on, to pairing with leggings and a dress for an office-appropriate outfit. The flexible Lytech fabric conforms to the shape of the foot and allows healthy circulation for ultimate comfort all day long.
