Arcopédico Wraps Up Foot-Healthy Holiday Slippers for Women's Wish Lists

Soft, Knitted 'Fuzzy' Slipper Supports Arches and Circulation for Cozy, Anatomical Winter Comfort

SPARKS, NV (November 8, 2012) – Nothing can beat soft slippers for winter holiday gifts, and this year, Arcopédico women's comfort shoe company steps up slipper standards by offering the new 'Fuzzy,' a slipper with a comfort shoe sole.

Featuring a unique hand-knit upper and Arcopédico's signature anatomical, twin-arch sole design underfoot, the Fuzzy offers foot health in addition to luxurious comfort and warmth for an indulgent holiday gift any woman will appreciate (MSRP: $64).

Lined and trimmed with the plush faux-fur that gives the slipper its name, the Fuzzy keeps feet cozy through the chilly winter season while offering women distinguished style and class whether at home or out and about in town.

A soft, nylon knitted fabric outer swaddles the top of the foot for flexible, blister-free comfort, while allowing maximum circulation to the foot. A contoured, anatomical foot bed with a slight heel and dual-arch support cradle the foot, keeping a bounce in the step during holiday feast preparations or holiday gift shopping.

Outstepping lesser winter slip-ons, Arcopédico's rugged polyurethane sole and handcrafted upper were built to last for long-term comfort and style, making the Fuzzy a gift that keeps on giving long after the holidays pass.
