Control Corrective Skincare System's New High Potency EGF Serum 30 Reveals Youthful Skin

Rich concentration of biologically-derived epidermal growth factors rejuvenates skin

Irvine, CA (February 5, 2013) – Control Corrective Skincare Systems, manufacturer of professional clinical skincare products since 1997, introduces EGF Serum 30, one of the most advanced biologically derived growth factor serums available today.

Offering the latest in scientific skincare technology, EGF Serum 30 contains multiple epidermal growth factors that deeply absorb into skin cells to minimize the signs of aging and sun damage, and dramatically improve the skin's texture and elasticity.

"Unlike most products on the market, EGF Serum 30 incorporates biologically derived growth factors, DNA repair enzymes and antioxidants that the skin easily recognizes and absorbs, with far more effective results than those of non-biologically-derived products," explained, Ellen Clark, president of Control Corrective Skincare Systems. According to Clark, the high percentage of growth factors used in the serum provides noticeable results after only 30 days of use.

"Growth factors are natural proteins found in our skin in abundance when we are young, however, as we age, our skin produces fewer of these factors and signs of aging become noticeably evident," she continued.

Safe for all skin types, it is also compatible with retinol, antioxidant treatment regimes and sunscreens, and can also be used to enhance healing following chemical peels, IPL, laser or microdermabrasion. It is available for skincare professionals on February 1 in a 0.5 ounce bottle, MSRP $120. To order please visit Control Corrective Skincare Systems at www.controlcorrective.com.
