Control Corrective Skincare Systems® to Walk in Susan G. Komen Orange County Race for the Cure “Control Freaks” Rally to Support a World Without Breast Cancer

IRVINE, CA (September 9, 2015) – Orange County-based clinical skincare brand Control Corrective Skincare Systems will walk to support breast cancer outreach, education, treatment and research at the 24th Annual Susan G. Komen Orange County Race for the Cure, held September 27, 2015, at Fashion Island in Newport Beach.

Aptly named “Control Freaks,” the Control Corrective team will participate in the 5K walk and provide free, custom-designed tee-shirts for team members (while supplies last) checking in at its “Team Tailgate” tent before the event.

Additionally, Control Corrective will donate its popular Botanical Soothing Cream SPF 30 – a soothing moisturizer with natural zinc oxide full-spectrum sun protection – for bags provided to breast cancer survivors.

“We all have friends and/or family who have been touched by cancer. My mother had cancer twice and it unfortunately took her life, so I witnessed firsthand the amount of love, support and help patients need during their treatment,” said Ellen Clark, founder and president of Control Corrective. “The Susan G. Komen Race for the Cure continues to help women find that support on many levels, and we feel privileged to be a part of it. Control Corrective is all about transformation and helping women feel better about themselves, so this event fits in line perfectly with our mission.”

Funds raised at the Komen Orange County Race for the Cure help support local breast health outreach, screening coordination of mammograms for women in need and treatment and support services to underserved women in the community. Twenty-five percent of the funds raised also go directly into the Komen’s Research and Scientific Grant Programs to energize science to find the cure.
