Soothe Dry, Irritated Skin with Organic All Good Goop™ from Elemental Herbs®

Now available in larger, four and nine ounce containers for the whole family

MORRO BAY, CA (May 7, 2013) - While gardening can cultivate many things beautiful this summer and fall, it can also lead to dry skin, calluses, cuts, blisters, irritations, sunburns and more.

Take special care of your skin with Elemental Herbs All Good Goop - an all-natural, healing, petroleum-free skin salve featuring ingredients straight from the garden.

A powerful blend of organic herbs, including calendula, comfrey and plantain, , extra virgin olive oil, beeswax, Vitamin E and lavender essential oil, All Good Goop helps soothe and heal the toughest scrapes and raw skin, but is also sensitive enough to be used on a baby's bottom.

The calendula in All Good Goop is grown on the company's certified organic family farm, and is harvested and dried with care to harness the plant's important healing properties. The product is then handcrafted by Elemental Herbs' "goop team" in Morro Bay, California's solar powered community kitchen. Gardeners know there are nothing like a homegrown tomato... the same rings true for this homegrown healing balm.

In and out of the garden, the curative balm is great for cracked skin, abrasions, sunburn, insect bites and stings, chapped lips, minor burns, scars and so much more.

All Good Goop is available in one-ounce containers for $8.50, two-ounces $13.50; and recently in four-ounce containers for $23 and nine-ounces for $40. It can be purchased at www.elementalherbs.com and at natural foods markets, sporting goods stores, some garden supply shops, and other fine retailers nationwide including Whole Foods and REI.
