Arcopédico® Introduces Feminine ‘Lisbon Collection’ with Two-Tone Rubber Soles
Stylish Boots, Booties and Loafers Help Women Step Gracefully into Fall Wardrobes and Weather

SPARKS, NV (May 20, 2013) – Arcopédico, maker of high-quality, Portuguese-made women’s comfort and travel footwear, launches into the fall 2013 season with its new Lisbon Collection. Featuring fashion-forward tweed and floral designs with stylish two-tone rubber soles, the new collection is made to endure the elements.

“Building on Arcopédico’s signature platform of patented twin-arch soles, circulation support, lightweight construction and anatomical design, the Lisbon Collection offers a true feminine flair and a fresh look for fall with lace overlays, woven twill detailing, and slight one-inch wedge soles,” said Dan Simas, Arcopédico’s general manager. The Lisbon Collection will be available in stores nationwide beginning September 2013.

Tweed, Indeed

Wrapping up in fall’s favorite fabric, the fun, fashionable and versatile tweed-inspired R10 slip-on loafer (pictured top-right) is quickly becoming an Arcopédico classic (MSRP: $124; black, camel). Boasting the hipster’s must-have woven pattern and leather trim, the shoes tie in effortlessly with both casual and office attire and make a smooth transition from summer skirts to fall leggings and skinny jeans. For a slightly more formal look, the R7 offers a flattering Mary-Jane style in the classic herringbone twill pattern with a flexible strap over the bridge of the foot and a slight rubber wedge sole (MSRP: $115; available in brown or black).

Grace in Lace

As the rain sets in and the temperatures drop, the R66 Boot (pictured left) provides fashionable relief with a tall rain-boot silhouette designed with either a solid calf shaft or a white floral lace print. Adding grace to the utilitarian look of galoshes, the rubber soled R66 boasts Arcopédico’s Lytech brushed suede-like base and four small brass clasps on the outer and inner calf (MSRP: $179; black, cherry red or Bordeaux). For a low boot style, the R63 Ankle Boot offers a modern, stylish look with a one-inch rubber wedge sole, a soft, adjustable, wraparound Velcro® strap, and a washable, durable and lightweight Lytech upper (MSRP: $139; black or brown).
