Treat Skin with TLC with Control Corrective Skincare Systems® Sensitive Skin Cleansing Milk

Gentle conditioning formula won't strip seasonally problematic complexions

IRVINE, CA (December 3, 2013) – Winter skin is most prone to dehydration and inflammation, so it's imperative that one's daily skin wash not contribute to the problem.

Instead, keep skin clean, conditioned and comfortable with Control Corrective Skincare Systems Sensitive Skin Cleansing Milk, a calming cleanser that soothes inflammation, fortifies skin's own ability to retain healing moisture and washes away dry surface cells, impurities and make-up.

“The worst skin mistake you can make during the winter months is to ignore seasonal sensitivity,” said Ellen Clark, founder and president of Control Corrective. “Even traditionally oily or balanced complexions can get dry, overstimulated and ruddy in a chilly climate. Our Sensitive Skin Cleansing Milk offers instant relief and replenishment.”

Ideal for sensitive, dehydrated or rosacea-prone skin, the rich and creamy cleanser contains moisturizing lipids that prevent the complexion from feeling stripped. Extremely gentle, it can be applied on the entire face, neck and eye areas, and can even be mixed with an exfoliator such as Control's award-winning Cucumber Bead Cleanser to create a deep-cleaning “scrub.”

Control Corrective Sensitive Skin Cleansing Milk is available in a 2 oz. or 6.7 oz. container for $12 and $24, respectively.
